

LONDON NEWS AND GOSSIP

BY WILLIAM TRUE HAWTHORNE.

LONDON, January 5.—The closing sessions of the House of Lords were marked by incidents which shocked the sensibilities of some members of the lower house of Parliament, notably those who had already been aroused by the killing of the education bill. One Mr. P., who had seen a noble lord carried out of the chamber by attendants, and another so hilarious that he had to be kept in his seat by force, was so impressed by the spectacle that he brought the matter up in Commons, though fully aware that any action in such a matter was indelicately unpardonable. Getting recognition from the speaker, Mr. Crooks, the Labor member for Woolwich, put the following question in the House of Commons: "It has been asked of me whether I have given my private notice—whether it is a fact, that during the course of the discussion on the merchants' shipping act amendment bill, in another place, last night, the attendants of the members who had been obviously intoxicated, and that another member who took part in the debate was suffering from overindulgence in drink?" (Opposition cries of "order.") The Speaker—Order! Order! The honorable member has not submitted the question to me. It does not appear to me to come within the rule of urgency in any way. (Laughter.)

Mr. Flavin, member for Kerry—it was very urgent last night. (Renewed laughter.)

This closed the incident, but Mr. Crooks had succeeded in getting into the official report of the proceedings the noteworthy fact that the House of Lords, in handling the House of Commons, was stimulated by something more potent than a jealous zeal for "wise, deliberate, and well-considered legislation." Its members prate about.

Lady Aberdeen has blighted the Irish members to a late hall in the vicarage mansion in Dublin. The details of which are viewed with anxious interest by London hostesses on the lookout for the novel and original. The Irish ladies are only one of the unique functions of the season. Lady Aberdeen, who has been in London, has planned for the most brilliant of the Irish metropolises has ever witnessed. A special feature of the late hall will be the quadrilles, in which lace of various descriptions will be worn by the dancers. In fact, Lady Aberdeen expects that every lady present will wear a dress trimmed with Irish lace or crocheted, while the men will appear in court dress, with Irish lace jackets and ruffles. Her Excellency has expressed the wish that Irish poplin shall also be used in the ladies' dresses. Such a demand Irish reels and dances will be introduced, and many of the old step dances of Ireland are being revived by the dancing instructors of Dublin, in preparation for the entertainment, which will be a most brilliant affair. Another novelty planned by Lady Aberdeen is an afternoon party, at which gowns of Irish cloths only are to be worn, while the men are to come in the Irish manufacture. With such an impetus, it would seem that Irish society should be the gainer, no less than Irish politics has been, through the sympathetic dispensation of the Liberal regime.

Captain Anderson, of the steamer African Prince, advances a new theory, based on a startling experience, to account for the mysterious disappearance of vessels at sea, with special reference to the many untold disasters of the Atlantic. Captain Anderson, describing the narrow escape of his vessel from destruction by a meteor on his last voyage from New York, says: "I was on the bridge, with the second officer, when suddenly the dark night became as light as day, and an immense meteor shot toward the earth. Its train of light was an immense, broad, electric-colored band, gradually burning to orange, and then to the color of fire. When the meteor came into the denser atmosphere close to the earth, it appeared like a molten mass of metal being poured out. It struck the water with a hissing sound close to the ship, and the consequence was that the ship, which had been total annihilation, without doubt, and not a soul left to tell the story."

Captain Anderson believes that to some such cause must be attributed the disappearance of steamers during a passage of fine weather and in the open sea, where there are no navigation dangers. "Such losses make us think of boiler explosions and other theories, which might, under circumstances, and very bad weather, cause the loss and total disappearance of a steamer, but my experience on the voyage from New York has brought to my mind that ships which have never been heard from were lost by a meteor falling on them. Neither seamanship, engineering nor ordinary theory can explain the many mysteries of the Atlantic otherwise."

A dramatic story of a woman's revenge was told at the Guildhall Police Court, when Emile Foucault, a young French woman, was sent to trial on a charge of throwing vitriol in the face of M. Delombré, thus causing the loss of one eye and disfiguring him for life. M. Delombré, who is the son of persons of very high circumstances in Paris, had followed him to London, after a quarrel in Paris. They went to Tranter's Hotel to discuss their troubles, and ordered a cup of coffee. Explaining that she had poured something from a bottle into the coffee cup. A little later, as they stood at a window, the girl, with the cup still in her hand, said to M. Delombré: "Either you shall marry me, or you shall kill yourself. I will kill you." To this Delombré answered: "Marry you? Certainly not. You do not love me—indeed, you hate me, and neither do I love you." Emile repeated her demands, all the time pouring the contents of the bottle into the coffee cup. "I shall marry you," declared the other decisively, and picked up his overcoat to leave. He had got one arm in the sleeve when Emile violently dashed the contents of the cup in his face. He rushed to the door, only to find that he was locked in. In his agony he kicked one of the panels out, and his screams attracted a policeman to the scene. He was taken to St. Bartholomew's Hospital, where his terrible condition caused grave doubt at first for his recovery.

Emile was arrested, and a loaded revolver and box of cartridges were found on her. She vehemently denied offering Delombré the fluid to take his own life. She raised the cup to her lips, she said, intending to commit suicide in his presence, but a remark of his caused her to lose control of herself, and she flung the contents in his face. The sight of her lover's disfigurement threw her into a fit of hysterics in court, and she appeared very distressed throughout the hearing. In her purse was found her will, dated Paris, November 17, 1906. Delombré's story was dramatically related by counsel, the scene at the hotel vividly described, and the denunciation of the girl delivered with unsparring force; indeed, the atmosphere of Guildhall courtroom seemed surcharged with Frenchness—the flavor of romance and crime that rarely crosses the channel, losing nothing of its Parisian quality.

The tragic death of Dr. James Lambert at South Kensington station, was attended by one of the most extraordinary circumstances that perhaps ever fell to the experience of a medical man. Dr. Lambert was usually summoned when accidents occurred at the station, and when, last Sunday, a man was badly injured at the station officials, unaware of the identity of the victim, promptly sent for Dr. Lambert to attend to the case. The doctor failing to respond, the dying man was removed to St. George's Hospital, where he was recognized as Dr. Lambert himself. He had been maimed and electrocuted in attempting to jump on an electric train, just as it was starting, and by the irony of fate, was called to attend to injuries to himself.

The curious story of De Raylan, the Russian consular officer at Chicago, who turned out to have been a criminal with a record of more than a dozen years, has its counterpart, with the sex reversed, in an extraordinary episode just reported from Breslau, Germany. A Breslau teacher fell in love with a lady named Dina Alma, and who said she was the daughter of a French consul in Brazil. They became engaged, and the teacher returned to Breslau. Dina Alma arrived there shortly after, and her father, who was a man masquerading in woman's finery gown. Finally, she was accused of false pretenses. Dina Alma thereupon took poison and died. Her hair, bust, and hips were all false. Her magnificent diamonds were paste. The police discovered that Dina Alma was the son of a physician who once lived in Berlin, and that "she" was thirty-five years old, though, with her feminine make-up, no one would have judged her over twenty-five. As a man, Dina Alma had been knocking about Europe for years before assuming the garb and name of a woman.

NORTHUMBERLAND

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] HEATHSVILLE, VA., January 5.—The week just passed has been one of unusual round of gaiety for the young people of this section. Dances were given at Lancaster, Heathsville, Upland, and on Wednesday evening the annual holly ball at Kings.

The holly ball was started several years ago by Dr. John Palmer, of Bedford, and has ever since been one of the gayest and most successful of the section. Each year a queen is crowned for the next ball.

Miss Nettie Palmer, of Kings, was crowned queen this year and Misses Lillian Crowle and Genevieve Smith were maid of honor.

It was an unusually attractive lady and a very graceful dancer. Mr. C. V. Hodgson, of Baltimore, visited friends here during the holidays. Miss Alice Towne, of Baltimore, was the guest of Mrs. Evelyn Rowe several days last week.

Miss Ruth McDonald, who has been visiting her friend, Miss Genevieve Smith, returned Monday to her home in Washington.

Mr. Will Harris, of Kansas, spent several days with Mr. George Walker recently.

Miss Lillian Anderson, who has been

DROPS DEAD AT TABLE

J. Hill Moreton struck dead while making speech.

The annual meeting of the Colonial Society, held at the Madison Club house in Cleveland yesterday, came to an abrupt and tragic end when Mr. J. Hill Moreton dropped dead at his table. He was just finishing a brief after dinner speech when he suddenly stopped, gasped the table and sank to the floor. He had, stricken by Heart Disease before his wife who sat nearest, could reach him. He was prominent attorney and only thirty-six years old.

Mr. Hill was the picture of health, yet for months he had known that he had something wrong, but he had done nothing for it, saying to his wife and others that it was a matter of time, and that he would get it all right of itself. But delay an neglect cost him his life. This case is only one of sixty thousand people yearly of Heart Disease. Six in every ten die. Many don't know it, they think it is something else and doctor the stomach, kidneys, female organs, and get no better. A good many who know it can't be cured. Now Heart Disease is just as curable as any other disease; we have proved this by curing in the last five years, over thirty thousand cases. Many of these were the most chronic, serious, complicated kind, in which all other remedies and doctors had failed, and hope seemed gone, but our treatment cured them quickly. Heart Disease affects the nerves and builds up the whole system. We can cure YOU, no matter how badly off, and to prove it we will send you a full, postpaid, without any conditions, with all regular full-size package of Dr. Fuller's treatment for the Heart and nerves and his illustrated book with which you will know your own case as well as any doctor. Both book and treatment are free.

Understand, this is not a "sample" or "trial," but a real full-size treatment. Neither is it a C. O. D. scheme or anything of the kind; nothing but a fair, square chance for you to fully test this new, scientific, treatment for yourself, in your own home, at no cost. There is no secret about this treatment. It is not "patent medicine." The remedies which we employ are purely vegetable and harmless, a complete list of which we always gladly furnish. If you have one of the following symptoms—Nervousness, Trembling, Twitching or Nightmares, Palpitation, Flushing or Kipping Beats of the Heart, Short Breath, fainting, Smothering, Choking, Numb or Sinking Spells, Dizziness, Headache, Suffering Leg, Pain in Heart, Sides or Shoulder-blade, your heart and nerves are surely wrong. Don't wait, but send now for the full, free treatment, and get well. Address The Heart Cure Co., Masonic Building, Hallowell, Maine.

working in Essex county, all the winter and fall, has returned to her home here.

Miss Lucy Brown Beale was the guest of Miss Maude Nelms during the holidays.

Mr. H. Mason Brent visited at Centre Cross during the holidays.

Mr. M. S. Brent, who spent Christmas at his home in Richmond, returned to Richmond, where he attends the Medical College of Virginia.

Mr. George Walker left Friday for Bedford City.

WYTHEVILLE

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

WYTHEVILLE, January 5.—The Episcopal Christmas tree at the Parish House on New Year's evening was an occasion of great enjoyment to the Sunday-school. A unique feature which added much to the delight and merriment of the little folks was Santa Claus's house built of bricks of candy.

The teachers and rector are to be congratulated on the successful growth and success of the Sunday-school.

The students of the Wytheville Graded School gave a play, "Old Maids' Convention," at the Opera House Monday evening. It was enjoyed by a large audience, and a handsome sum realized for the benefit of the school library.

Rev. W. J. K. Pendleton entertained the Junior St. Andrews Brotherhood at the rectory Friday evening. It was an occasion of much social pleasure.

Rev. Edward Goodwin, of Fairfax, preached at St. John's Episcopal Church Sunday.

Mr. Norton Williams, of Augusta, Georgia, is the guest of friends in town.

Miss Alice Cleaves returned Wednesday to Williamsburg, Kentucky, after spending the holidays with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. C. W. Gleaves.

Dr. Edward P. McGavock spent Christmas week at the Chiswell, returning to New York Monday.

Mrs. Clay Jones and son, McKee, of Roanoke, are visiting friends in town.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Read, and Miss Alice Carter, of Evansville, Indiana, are the guests of Colonel R. E. Withers at "Ingleside."

Mr. J. Norment Powell, of Bristol, has been called home for a few days by the critical illness of Judge John H. Fulton.

Miss Gretta McGavock spent her holidays at her home, Graham's Forge, and returned to the Stone Gap Monday, where she will resume her school.

Rev. William Pendleton, of the Theological Seminary, is visiting his sister, Mrs. Frank Chaffin at her home, "Glen Allen."

Messrs. Walter and Robert Leach, of Knoxville, are visiting their summer home, "Green Plains."

SILVER WEDDING.

Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Bane Celebrate Marriage Anniversary.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

RADFORD, VA., January 5.—The event of the Christmas season at White Gate, Giles county, was the twenty-fifth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Bane. The house was lavishly decorated in mistletoe and holly, and the table decorations were in green and silver. The centerpiece was a mirror backed with moss, representing a miniature lake, and from a bell overhead silver chains extended to the corners of the table. The menu was a delightful one.

The bride and bridegroom were assisted in receiving by their daughters, Misses Vera and Mary Bane. During the evening punch was served and a wedding cake cut. Games were played and a fairly musical program carried out. There were many handsome wedding presents in silver, and these were displayed in the reception hall and decorations of silvered holly.

Santa Claus at Green Bay.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] GREEN BAY, VA., January 5.—The Christmas tree and entertainment given by the Sunday-school teachers and scholars at the Christian Church here Wednesday night was largely attended, and quite a success. The many different and beautiful gifts were spoken and acted well. The entertainment began about 8 o'clock and lasted until 10 or after, when the presents were distributed from the Christmas chest by Mr. Herman Kauffman, who acted as Santa Claus. The entertainment was managed by Misses Maria Taylor, Sallie Bigwood and Jess Sheltoun, and Mr. W. T. Mitchell.

Mr. W. J. Filippin, who was hurt by an elevator, as reported from Lynchburg Thursday, has been freed from his place, and his friends and relatives are very anxious about his condition.

RINGING BELLS GREET NEW YEAR

Blackburg Unusually Gay on Advent of 1907—Many Pleasant Parties.

SEND PRESENTS TO RICHMOND

Harvey Black Chapter, Daughters of the Confederacy, Remember Old Ladies' Home.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] BLACKSBURG, VA., January 5.—The New Year was ushered in with the ringing of bells, shooting of fireworks and a number of "watch night" parties, attended by the young people of the town and college. Classes were resumed at the Institute Wednesday morning, and the members of the faculty were back from their holiday trips and ready for work. The students are arriving by every train, several have entered for the first time, and there will be no decrease in the enrollment, as is often the case after the midwinter recess. The public school of the town will not reopen until the 7th, as the principal decided to give a week extra and make it up at the end of the year.

Mrs. Milton Cuthrel entertained a few of her friends very informally at her new home near town New Year's Eve, the guests being invited to watch the old year out and the new year in. A regular old house guest, Miss Lily Cuthrel, of Norfolk, and those enjoying their hospitality included Misses Maud Henderson, Mary Pack, Annie Henderson, Emma Wall, Clara Pack, and Messrs. James Brown, Grady Henderson, Leon Pack, C. R. Holdaway, and W. E. Strang.

Mrs. Black's Reception.

Mrs. Kent Black was the hostess at an informal reception from 4 to 6 the afternoon of New Year's Day, in honor of Mrs. John S. Apperson, of Marion, Va. The parlor, reception hall, and dining-room, where Mrs. Black received her guests, were decorated in the green and red of the Christmas season, and refreshments of salad, sandwiches, olives, cheese, wafers, jelly, and fruit, were served. Those calling included Messdames Mary I. Black, Frank D. Wilson, Robert L. Fagg, Charles Black, E. R. Price, A. Black, H. A. Marr, John S. Apperson, Misses Louise Nelson and Florence Houston.

The Harvey Black Chapter, Daughters of the Confederacy, held a well attended meeting at the home of Mrs. Alexander Black Monday evening. The members decided to send a box of goodies to the Richmond the last week in January, and to join with the Lee Literary Society of the Institute in a public celebration of the birthday of General Robert E. Lee, on the 19th of January. The making of a suitable representation at the Greenstown Exposition was deferred until a later date.

Messrs. James and Robert Randolph, who are attending school at Cluster Springs Academy, in Halifax county, returned Wednesday to their duties, after a visit to their father, Professor L. S. Randolph.

William Lybrook and William, Jr., are spending the week at Hoge's Store, in Giles county.

Mrs. F. W. Eheart returned Wednesday from a visit to her old home in Roanoke county.

Mr. Ray Lybrook and wife left Tuesday for Front Royal, Va., where the former has secured a position as chemist.

Miss Mary Ledgerwood, a clerk in the Interior Department at Washington, spent the holidays at her home here, returning to her work Monday night.

Mr. E. H. Watson, of the University of Pennsylvania, having sustained quite an injury there several months ago.

Dr. T. L. Watson, of the Institute, left Wednesday for a trip to Danville, and Washington, in the interest of his work as geologist.

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Shultz returned Tuesday from a two weeks' visit to Lynchburg.

Mrs. S. R. Pritchard and children are at home again, after a month's visit to Mrs. Pritchard's old home in South Carolina.

Mrs. and Mrs. J. E. Williams, Master William Patton Williams, and Miss Virginia Patton, have returned from a visit to Mrs. William Patton, in Lexington, Va.

Dr. and Mrs. Carol M. Newman and Master Tom Newman are at home again, after a visit to Bristol, Tenn.

Messrs. Maud and Susie Henderson left Tuesday for their school in Blackstone, Va.

Professor A. M. Soule and Professor R. J. Davidson are attending the meeting of the Farmers' Institute at Eastville, Va., this week.

Mr. Bruce Tutwiler and two children returned Wednesday from a visit to Mrs. Hooper, in Bluefield, W. Va.

Mr. Julius Buford, a prominent farmer of Pulaski, was among the visitors to town this week.

Miss Shadelford, of the Woman's College, at Bedford City, was the guest of her sister, Mrs. Howe Brown, on Roanoke Valley, during the holidays, returning to school Wednesday.

Miss Stiff, of the Institute stenographic staff, has returned from a visit to her home in Hampton, Va.

Miss Mary Mathews and her house guest, Miss Honeycutt, of North Carolina, left Wednesday for Bristol, where they are attending school.

Mr. George Walker, Jr., left Wednesday for Hampden-Sydney College, where he is a student this session.

BY TEST HAS PROVEN BEST.

ELIXIR BABEK

Cures All Forms of Malaria in All Stages, and Prevents It When Taken in Time.

It is a splendid spring tonic and blood purifier for young and old. Can be taken by anyone with impunity. Why suffer with chills and fever, when thousands have been cured by "Babek"? Beware of "something just as good." See a bottle at all druggists.

Prices Cut to the Bone on Fine Tailor-Made Suits.

$35. and $30. Suits, $25, $22, $20 Suits, $18. and $15. Suits,

Superb Imported Worsteds, Fine All-Wool Worsteds, Cassimeres, Thibets, Cheviots, Velours,

MADE TO ORDER MADE TO ORDER MADE TO ORDER

$20. $16.50 $11.50

These embrace the most fashionable weaves of the season, and are tailored with the greatest care. All on the bargain counter in this reduction sale.

Perfect Fit, Careful Tailoring.

$20. Overcoat, MADE TO ORDER $15.

Lined with genuine Venetian, and made in the very latest style. Velvet collar.

Plaids and Overplaids, Shadow Plaids, Stripes, Checks, and a large variety of patterns that have been worn by the best dressed men this season. You can almost certainly find something to suit you in this assortment of scores of pieces of all kinds.

All Suits Made With the Stylish New "Modeled" Shoulders, if You Wish, Without Extra Charge.

Large variety of popular patterns in Checks, Plaids, Stripes, blacks, dark blues, browns and up-to-date mixtures that are especially attractive to young men. These are the best suits at the price you will find anywhere in this city.

Just as Perfect Fit and Careful Tailoring as if You Paid the Full Price.

MORTON C. STOUT & CO. TAILORS
EVERY THREAD ALL WOOL

Morton C. Stout & Co.,

Tailors of Quality,

No. 714 E. Main Street.

OLD POINT COMFORT

OLD POINT COMFORT, VA., January 5.—The week just passed was the gayest of the winter season. There were dances almost every night, and dinners and teas without number.

On New Year's Eve the officers of the post gave a hop in the Administration Building, and on Tuesday evening there was a hop at the Chamberlin, in honor of the officers of Admiral Evans's fleet.

The usual Wednesday and Saturday evening hops were attractive events.

Before the hop on Monday evening, Mrs. Samuel Shurtle, of the post, had as her guests for dinner, Miss Leila Weaver and the Messrs. Hazard, of Washington; Mr. Philip Chapman, of Portland, Me.; Mr. George F. E. Harrison, Jr., of Yale, and Mr. Ross Harrison, of Cornell.

Mrs. Joseph Tracy, of the post, gave a supper for her house guests, the Messrs. Hazard.

Mrs. Charles E. Kilbourne, of Fort Monroe, gave a tea on Sunday afternoon, and Mrs. John Stevens, also of the post, gave a tea on Tuesday afternoon, for her guests, Miss Davis, of New York.

A tea was given on the battleship Alabama on Monday afternoon, at which some of the guests were Mrs. Joseph Tracy, Mrs. Charles E. Kilbourne, Misses Hilda and Florence Hooker, Miss Leila Weaver, and the Messrs. Hazard.

The wardroom officers of the Alabama gave a dinner on Tuesday evening for Mrs. Samuel Shurtle, Miss Marie Potts, of Cincinnati, and Miss Florence Booker.

On Tuesday evening also Mrs. Charles C. Walker, of Richmond, was the hostess at a dinner on her private car at which her guests were Mr. and Mrs. John D. Potts, of Cincinnati; Lieutenant and Mrs. Richard Coke Marshall, of the post, her daughter, Miss Rebecca Walker, and Midshipmen Lindsay Walker and Friedell, of the navy.

Mr. George L. E. Harrison was also a dinner guest of Tuesday evening.

On Monday evening Mr. William V. Wright, of Newport News, gave a dinner at the Chamberlin. His guests were Dr. and Mrs. Joseph G. Buxton, Mr. and Mrs. E. D. T. Luning, Miss Anne Luning, and Mr. A. L. Powell, all of Newport News.

ABINGDON SOCIAL

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] ABINGDON, VA., January 5.—Mr. and Mrs. Hassinger, of Pennsylvania, have been the guests of Mr. Hassinger's brother this week.

Miss Frances Mingea left this week for a visit to Misses Laura and Kathleen Richardson at Richmond.

Judge John A. Buchanan was in town Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Wilmer have returned to their home in Richmond.

Mrs. J. W. Bell is visiting friends in Richmond.

Mrs. F. L. Findley returned this week, after a month's visit to her son at Ingleside, W. Va.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hughes, of Norfolk, left for their home this week, after spending the holidays with friends in town.

Miss Marcella Hurt returned Thursday to the convent at Wytheville after a short visit to her father, Mr. J. L. Hurt.

Miss Lucile Scott is back from Johnson City, where she has been visiting friends. Messrs. George Allen Richardson and Walter Hull, of Marion, have been the guests of Mr. Harris Findley for a few days this week.

Mr. James Trigg left Thursday for Johnson City, where he has accepted a position.

Miss Cella Brinson, of Sullins College, at Bristol, has been the guest of Miss Mabel Barrow this week.

One of the most pleasant social events during the past week was the "smoker" given by Dr. Bradburn to some of his many guests. The gentlemen present were Messrs. Hassinger, Dr. Campbell, Dr. Grant, Dr. Cummings, Judge Hutton, Judge Page, Captain Robertson and Messrs. Whiting, T. E. Trigg, Mingea, Preston Campbell, Aston, Bore, Bell, J. Preston Campbell, John Stuart, James T. White, Helms, Webb, Withers, Carson, C. B. Clark, Leon Palmer, Charles Palmer, S. R. Preston, Wilmer, Wyndham White, Robert Hughes, of Norfolk; Slomp, Norvell, Lee, Daniel Trigg, Findlay Harris, Martin Honaker, John Barrow, John Troger, Bradley Kreger and Thomas Mason.

The young men of Abingdon gave a most delightful morning gathering at the Hotel Belmont on New Year's Day. The young people danced from 10 until 2, after which refreshments were served. The couples dancing were Mr. Harris Findley, with Miss Gay White; Mr. W. P. Withers, with Miss Margaret Aston; Mr. Alfred Withers, with Miss Lillian Harris; Mr. Preston Trigg, with Miss Virginia Clark; Mr. George Penn, with Miss Estelle Penn; Mr. Frank White, with Miss Sadie White; Mr. Thom-

A CARD!

We extend our sincere thanks to our friends for their liberal patronage during the past year.

We will be better prepared to supply your wants during 1907 than we ever have in the past.

Having placed contracts for all staple goods which are steadily advancing in price, we will be enabled to supply our customers at the lowest possible prices. Our terms are always liberal. A visit to our store will convince you.

Jones Bros. & Co.,

1418-20 E. Main St.

See Buster Brown and Tige,

January 8th.

The real, live Buster Brown and his breathing, barking dog, Tige, will be at our store Tuesday, January 8th.

Admission Free!

A great treat to every boy and girl in and around Richmond. The admission to the reception is free to all.

Watch paper for the hour. Come!

Albert Stein

SHOE STORE,
428 E. Broad Street.

Diamonds!

$5.50

for a lot of Ladies' Rings with nice white diamonds—not cut stones. Simply one of our leaders.

$18.00

for your choice of another special lot, worth $25.00 each.

SCHAAF,

No. 426,

Fifth and Broad.

Demand for Certified Milk

In large centres, where so much milk is consumed, the necessity of producing and handling it under sanitary conditions has been impressed upon the minds of the people. But back of this condition for safeguarding and handling the milk lies the most important of all—the general health of the cow.

Protina

Dairy Feed, with its health-producing alfalfa basis, will put your cows in the